

Editorial Manager®

Powered by: Aries systems

Aries Systems' Editorial Manager® (EM) is the leading cloud-based manuscript submission and peer review system for scholarly journals, reference works, books, and other publications.

Superior Editorial Experience

Editorial Manager (EM) is a highly-configurable workflow management system designed to streamline editorial processes, communication with internal and external stakeholders, and management of metadata and files. Trusted by thousands of publications across hundreds of multinational publishers, societies, and organizations, Editorial Manager supports multiple publishing business models for a flexible and efficient workflow without costly investments.

Every User Plays a Role

Utilized by millions of registered users worldwide and operating as a role-based system, EM allows publishers to easily manage user permissions by configuring roles for Editors-In-Chief, Managing Editors, Editorial Assistants, Authors, Corresponding Authors, Reviewers, System Administrators, and more!

Authors

- Submit manuscripts and supplemental files
- Act on revision requests
- Track manuscript status

Editors

- Process submissions
- Utilize quality check tools
- Assign and manage Reviewers
- Set final disposition

Reviewers

- Manage peer review invitations/assignments
- Submit review commentary
- Optionally receive credit for contributions

Flexible Workflow

Editorial Manager empowers thousands of publications to uniquely configure their workflows at any time, allowing permissioned System Administrators to make changes as business policies and preferences evolve at no additional cost.

Ecosystem of Tools

Aries' strategic in-house innovations and partner integrations connect industry-leading technology with Editorial Manager, providing publishers with best-in-class tools, all in one place. Our expansive ecosystem includes quality check tools, manuscript evaluation services, metadata standards, Reviewer finder and recognition tools, payment processing tools, and more!

Robust Reporting Suite

Editorial Manager's built-in Enterprise Analytics Reporting (EAR) suite provides publishers with visibility into important publication data for performance tracking and informed decision making. Cross-publication reporting (X-EAR) can be enabled for publishers with expansive journal portfolios.

End-To-End Solution

In addition to transfer capabilities between external systems, such as preprint servers, manuscript preparations services, and other peer review platforms, EM seamlessly connects with production systems to provide a comprehensive workflow solution beyond peer review. Achieve a true end-to-end publishing experience by pairing Editorial Manager with Aries' ProduXion Manager®.
