Tips and tricks to help you get the most out of Editorial Manager & ProduXion Manager

Working With Aries is About More than Software

Editorial Manager is the leading submission and peer review workflow solution, but partnering with Aries Systems goes beyond deployment. Aries cultivates an engaged and lively user community. Tangible examples of this community include our third-party managed listserv, allowing users to connect in real-time to discuss best practices or workflow suggestions; weekly webinars with Client Services; three annual user group meetings in US, UK and Japan; and thought leadership blog and newsletter to share industry observations and insight as related to our products and customers. Aries leaders actively participate as members of many industry organizations, keeping us close to the standards, trends and initiatives shaping our ecosystem, and impacting your workflows. Book time to catch up with us face-to-face at the industry conferences you attend.

Client Services

Rather than dealing with an anonymous help desk, each publication is assigned a nominated Account Coordinator. This means that your support contact has a deep understanding of your particular workflows and needs. Client Services teams operate from multiple global locations, including USA, UK, Germany and Japan. Support is provided by telephone, e-mail, instant message and WebEx; and professionally managed using a state-of-the-art CRM system (NetSuite). Publications are encouraged to participate in Client Services' regular webinars, user community listserv, and three annual user group meetings (Boston, Tokyo and London).
