ProduXion Manager®

15th Annual European Editorial Manager® User Group Meeting

PM Enterprise View ("EV")

- PM users have long asked for a way to manage production responsibilities across multiple publications without having to login and logout, or jump from one PM site to the next.
- SOLUTION: New PM Enterprise View allows users to access submissions across multiple publications within a single interface from a new menu tab available on any of the PM sites.

Phased Implementation

- Version 16.1, currently in development
- Build the infrastructure
- Submission Tasks Assigned to Me  folder
- Schedule Group Tasks Assigned to Me folder
- Search Submissions

- Version 17.0, currently in planning and design stage
- Plan to extend EV to remaining folders in Production Tracking Menu

Pre-Requisites

- Publication must be a PM customer
- Publication must have a UDB (Unified Database)
- User has Editor or Publisher RoleManager permission to access EV
- User has Cross-Publication Login permissions and has configured a Cross-Publication Login List
- User has appropriate production-related permissions on publications in the group

New Editor and Publisher RoleManager Permissions

Ability to make EV Menu a user's Default Login Menu

New Enterprise View Menu

- Phase 1 includes:
  - Search Submissions
  - Submission Tasks Assigned to Me
  - Schedule Group Tasks Assigned to Me
  - Cross-Publication Enterprise Analytics Reporting (XEAR)

EV Folders

- EV folders take the existing PM folders and enhance them with:
  - Publication Code filter to refine the result set by publication

  - New Publication Code column to easily identify which site the task belongs to
  - PowerGrid format (like the existing Production Status Grid)

EV Folders (continued)

- Full set of Action links for the records on the current site
- A ‘Go To’ link to carry out actions on other publications
- Enhanced navigation on confirmation pages, allowing the user to seamlessly flow back and forth amongst publications without having to consciously “switch to” another publication

EV Search Submissions

- EV Search Submissions takes the existing search functionality and enhances it with:
  - Four new search criteria:
    - Publication Code
    - Corresponding Production Editor First Name
    - Corresponding Production Editor Last Name
    - Date Most Recent Production Task Completed
  - Same PowerGrid format and Action links as EV folders

EV Search Submissions (continued)

- Ability to Save searches and display them on the user's EV Menu
  - Note: Saved searches cannot be shared with other users in Phase 1

Cross-Pub Batch Task Assignment

- Today, users can batch assign production tasks from Search Submissions – Search Results
- New in EV Search Results, users can batch assign tasks in a single workflow cross-publication

Cross-Pub Batch Task Assignment

- User steps through the selection of task and assignee, letter customization, upload of files
- On the confirmation page, there are navigation links to keep the user in “EV mode” and proceed with batch assignment on the next publication

Cross-Pub Batch Task Assignment

- Clear indication of what is complete and what is left to do

Batch Assign Production Tasks

The assignments resulting from your search query are complete.

| Publication Code | Publication Name | Submissions Selected | |

Phase 2 – Version 17.0

- Still in planning and analysis phase, but the goal is to extend this functionality to the rest of the ProduXion Manager folders.

Task Manager – 15.1

More and more frequently Submission Production Tasks are being used for work traditionally tied to the editorial workflow, rather than being limited to just production work.

Currently, the use of “tasks” is tied to initiating production on a submission, which does not make sense to customers who use tasks in pre-production workflows, or who do not use ProduXion Manager.

SOLUTION: “Production Tasks” will be renamed “Editorial Tasks” for users accessing tasks before production is officially initiated, and for users who do not use the Production Tracking functions of ProduXion Manager.

Task Manager – 15.1

“Editorial Tasks” in EM are discrete jobs that do not affect the peer review workflow.

- Language edit
- Artwork manipulation check
- Copyright check
- Conflict of interest deposit
- Preprint server deposit

They might happen in parallel and/or they might be done on some submissions and not others.

Task Manager – 15.1

New Task Manager and existing Production functionality allow publications to configure different roles for different groups of staff to provide access to only relevant submissions and production-related or Task Manager–related actions. Example configurations:

Editorial Task Staff. This role has access to view all submissions in Task Manager, and is suppressed from seeing submissions in production.

Production Staff. This role has access to view all submissions in production, and is suppressed from seeing any submissions in Task Manager.

Administrator. This role has access to view all submissions both in Task Manager and Production, and is able to manually assign tasks in Task Manager and initiate production on submissions and assign tasks as needed.

Task Manager – Article Type

None – no tasks

All Tasks – any task that is configured

Any Custom Workflow – any configured workflow; consider creating Editorial workflows

Task Manager

"Tasks" can also be assigned from relevant folders in the Editor Main Menu by a user with "Assign Editorial Tasks in Task Manager" permission.

The "Assign Editorial Task" action link will display, but only for submissions where the Article Type has a Task Manager workflow selected.

First task can be automatically triggered at submission.

Task Manager – 15.1

There is a separate Task Manager tab where users can manage, assign and complete editorial tasks

Task Manager

Folders where Task Manager tasks can be found:

- View All Submissions in Task Manager (new)
- Tasks Assigned to Me
- Tasks I Have Assigned
- View All Tasks with Authors

Task Manager

There is a new “Task Manager Status” column.

Production Task History indicates if a task is “Assigned in Task Manager.”

Task Manager – Ending Task Manager

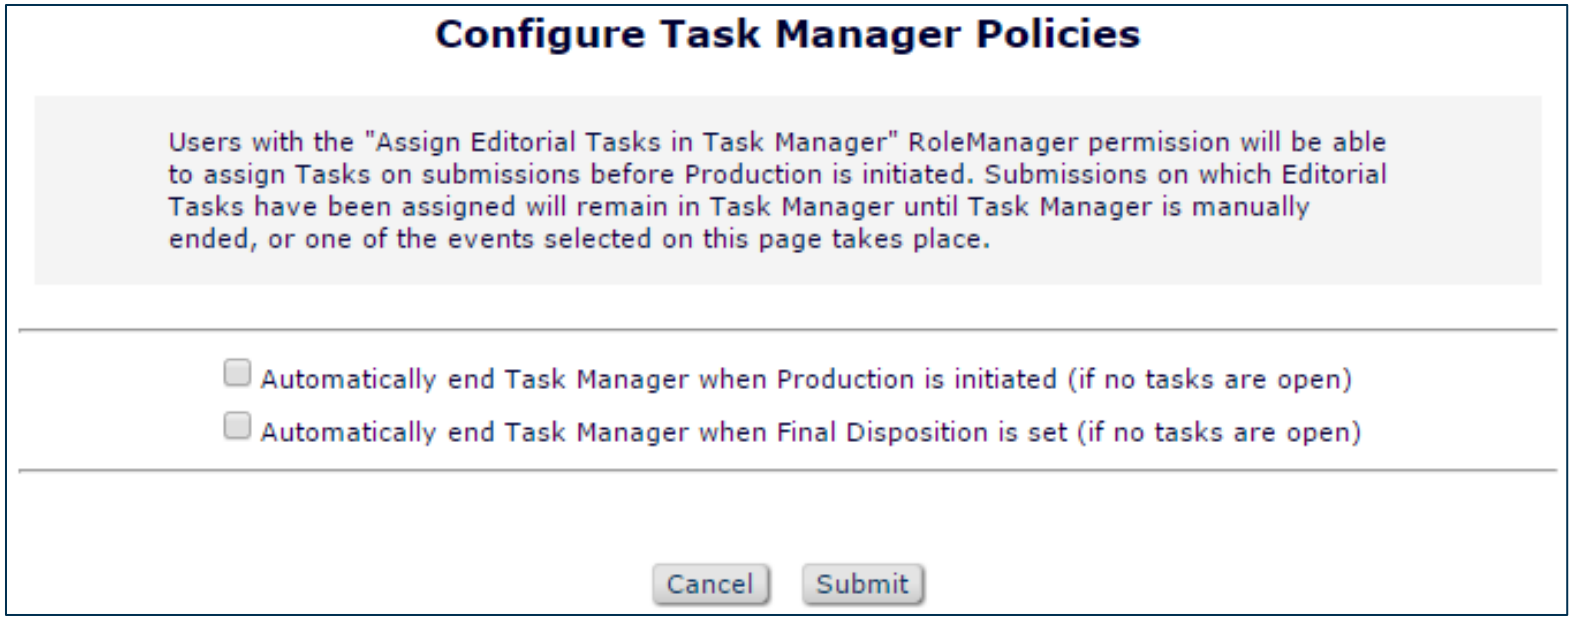
To complete an Editorial Task workflow:

- Click “End Task Manager”
- Final task (configured to “End…Task Manager”) in a workflow is complete
- Set the Final Disposition*
- Initiate production*



*This setting will be overridden if any tasks assigned in Task Manager are still open when production is initiated.
